DETAILED ACTION

Restriction

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

I. Claims 13-29 and 31-46 are drawn to a video game machine, classified in class 463, subclass 44.

II. Claims 1-12, 30 and 47-49 are drawn to a cartridge for a video game machine, classified in class 463, subclass 47 and also in class 273, subclass 148B.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the video game machine includes a specific cartridge or specific circuitry to add functionality to the claimed video game machine and does not require the specific structure of the claimed cartridge or accessory device for patentability. The subcombination has separate utility such as a cartridge or accessory device for connection to any video game machine or any other cartridge or accessory device known in the art.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Election

2. Should Applicant elect Invention I described above, this application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Embodiment I, wherein circuitry adds GPS capabilities; and Embodiment II, wherein circuitry adds wireless communication capabilities.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. In this case, claim 47 is generic.

3. Should Applicant elect Invention II described above, this application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Embodiment I, wherein circuitry adds GPS capabilities;

Embodiment II, wherein circuitry adds paging capabilities; and Embodiment III, wherein circuitry adds wireless communication capabilities.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. In this case, no generic claims are present.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

4. For clarity of the record, no call was made to the Applicant or to the Applicant's representative due to the complicated nature of this restriction/election.
